

2017 Canadian Inland Ports Conference

Andrew Hamilton
Director, Strategic Initiatives
Prince Rupert Port Authority

Andrew is the Director of Strategic Initiatives for the Port of Prince Rupert. After finishing graduate studies at the University of British Columbia, Andrew worked for PricewaterhouseCoopers in its valuation and strategy division. He moved to management positions in strategic planning and business development for Mountain Equipment Coop and Vancity Savings Credit Union. Prior to joining the Port of Prince Rupert, Andrew was general manager of Bensen, a furniture design manufacturer based in Vancouver.

Andrew joined the Port of Prince Rupert in 2006 to manage the port's business development team. In his current role, Andrew is responsible for gateway operations, planning and performance, competitive intelligence, strategic planning and the management of development projects. He is currently working on the development of an integrated intermodal logistics park and the feasibility assessment of a breakbulk and general cargo terminal.