

2017 Canadian Inland Ports Conference

Halia Valladares
Dean of Business
Capilano University

---

Halia Valladares is the Dean of the Faculty of Business and Professional Studies at Capilano University. Halia has been a business professional in leadership positions for over two decades. She has been a university professor and scholar for the past 14 years. She has served in different management positions in universities in different countries for over 10 years. Halia has international business experience in the private sector. She was the Traffic, Shipping and Receiving Supervisor for a Fortune 100 Corporation. She has experience in inland ports, particularly the Laredo Inland Port, where she was a Logistics Executive for Logis Inc. managing operations for L'Oréal, Estée Lauder, Lancôme, etc. and Caterpillar, Inc.

She earned her Doctoral Degree in Economics and Business Administration from Burgos University, Spain. She also holds a MBA in International Trade and a Master of Science in International Logistics from Texas A & M International University, USA and she is a Certified International Trade Professional in Canada (FITT-CITP). Halia has participated in over 60 international conferences as a speaker. She has authored more than 20 research publications for journals, book chapters and books in Mexico, Spain, Canada, Colombia, Venezuela, Pakistan, Cuba, USA, etc.

Specialties: International Logistics and Trade.

Scientific research in Management Accounting, International logistics, Foreign Direct Investment and Econophysics.