

2017 Canadian Inland Ports Conference

John Tenpenny
Editor
Canadian Shipper

John Tenpenny is the Editor of Canadian Shipper, published since 1898 and written for buyers of transportation services. An award-winning writer and editor, John has more than 15-years of business journalism experience. An experienced communicator, John also instructs at George Brown College's Editing Certificate program, where he teaches students the practical skills required to effectively manage the editorial process in both print and digital media.