

2017 Canadian Inland Ports Conference

Michael Gullo
Director of Policy, Economic & Environmental Affairs
Railway Association of Canada

Michael is the Director of Policy, Economic, and Environmental Affairs for the Railway Association of Canada. His responsibilities include monitoring domestic and international economic conditions and transportation policy, and overseeing the completion of annual publications such as Rail Trends and the Locomotive Emissions Monitoring Program Report. In his role he works directly with railway economists and government relations staff to complete research and develop policy positions on a variety of issues related to trade, supply chain competitiveness, and infrastructure investments. He headed the association's efforts to file a series of fact-based submissions and working papers to the Canada Transportation Act Review, and is currently the principal lead for the review of Railway Safety Act. Michael also provides Secretary services to the RAC's Policy Analysis Working Group, Environment Committee and Sustainability Working Group.
