

2017 Canadian Inland Ports Conference

Morley Strachan
Director, Asia-Atlantic Gateway
Halifax Port Authority

Morley Strachan is a Supply Chain, Logistics and Business Strategy professional. He has more than 35 years of senior management experience in several transportation industries including railways, intermodal trucking, marine container terminal, and export container transload facilities. Most of his career has had an international focus, primarily Asia.

Before taking on his current role as Director, Asia-Atlantic Gateway with the Halifax Port Authority, Morley was President of Coast2000 Terminals Ltd., a large forest products export container transload facility. His previous roles included executive marketing and operations positions with Global Container Terminals, the largest marine container terminal in Canada as well as senior marketing and operations management roles at BC Rail and CP Rail.

Morley holds BSc and MBA degrees from University of British Columbia. He has three adult sons and enjoys biking, golfing, and travelling with his wife Mary.