

VAN HORNE INSTITUTE

WOMEN IN SUPPLY CHAIN (WISC)

Trish Lequier
Senior Director of Food Safety
Loblaw West

The journey of our food – the food chain unlocked.

Take a tour with Loblaw food safety Sr. Director Trish Lequier on the journey of food from farm to fork, from the agriculture beginnings to the retail shelf.

Trish Lequier is the Senior Director Food Safety, Loblaw West. She is responsible to develop, implement, support and monitor Food Safety programs in retail and supply chain operations. Loblaw West consists of 240 retail locations and 8 distribution centers which located from Vancouver Island to Thunder Bay, and North to Whitehorse YK. Trish has more than 25 years' experience in food safety in both manufacturing and retail.

Trish received her Bachelor of Agriculture in Food Safety Degree, from the University of Manitoba. She began her career with Nestle in manufacturing. Her journey began in the quality assurance area of manufacture of different food products such as; french fries, frozen foodservice items (chili, sauces, and proteins), ice cream and chocolate. In 2004 she joined Loblaw West, based in Calgary. She set up the food safety program in Western Canada and continues to manage the food safety team.